

I feel that in now way should we be subjected to a phone call for advertising purposes from any bank that we may or may not have an account with. Since media advertising is very much a part of every banks policy and practice, I feel that if they should not caontact me with advertisement that they can accomplish via existing legal advertising methods. This would be a slap in the face to a very good program for the consumer. IE:"The Do Not Call List"